TRAINING & RECRUITMENT SOLUTIONS FOR INDUSTRY OBLIGATION & ACCREDITATION

EMPLOYER RESPONSIBILITY In the event of a medical emergency, knowing even basic first aid can help to save someone's life. In most workplaces there are dedicated first aiders, adopting the responsibility in addition to their employment duties, who can be approached in the occurrence of an accident to administer primary medical treatment. Members of staff with first aid training may not always be in the right place at the right time and so the importance shifts towards giving a greater number of employees an understanding of basic first aid.	Objective Of The Training The main objective of the training is to teach the basic skills and job safety necessary for the safe and efficient administration of First Aid
ACCREDITATION All training complies with Health & Safety (First Aid) Regulations 1981. Each course is issued with the mandatory HSE Approved Number.	Certificate Of Basic Training Successful delegates will each be awarded a certificate of basic training. Your delegate's course information will remain on our files for a minimum of seven years.
What To Expect The duration of the course varies from one day to four days. Course delivery adopts a modern and interactive approach. Teaching methods are varied to retain interest, thus maximising knowledge and skill retention and include lecture, demonstration, group work, hands on practical and video presentation. HSE recommends a certain criteria for courses, however, courses are streamed to include and highlight any particular requirements that individual organisations may have. Constant monitoring of courses and feedback forms from delegates that attend courses, ensure constant improvement in both delivery of the training and meeting our customer's needs.
Our Commitment To You Is to provide comprehensive, quality-training courses delivered by fully qualified First Aid instructors with a professional approach. Courses are constantly reviewed and kept up to date.
